

Speccky on Show

Feb 9. Starspect has been back at Caulfield for about 4 weeks now and is certainly looking good after appreciative post op care by the Riches at Kilora.

When we arrived to see her, Speccky was bright and attentive. She looked good. Her deep wounds have taken a lot of healing but they are looking good. And she has been eating well, which is pleasing to hear.

We were also eating very well as Specckytators tucked into the great breakfast at the Aquanita open day!

It was great to catch up and have a chat. It's been a while. It was good to meet one specckytator Jim who had been in the lost admin of previous syndicates and hadn't seen the light of day.

In the last few months I'd had one comment that our group should be called the Starry Eyed syndicate or even another bold outsiders comment as a bunch of dreamers ...

But we will just go along slowly and see what happens. Plenty of time. Plenty of time.
