

Specy Training Up

Apr 8. Starspect is training up and had a jumpout this morning at Caulfield. "She's coming along nicely" said Tony.

It looked like she even recognised Lachy when she was getting washed down after easy work on the course proper. So from here it will be just a bonus to see her at a racetrack. And The Starry Eyed group of Specyators might even be granted that wish...

Now that she has a bit work behind her Tony will now look for a race just to ease her back into it. After that, with all going well, we'll be able to assess how she is going and better plan this campaign.
